Dear Nan,

Your writing workshop exceeded all of my expectations. I knew you had a special gift when I attended your workshop at the Boulder Library earlier this year, but you took our 19 students far beyond that high point

The fact that so many students lingered after the workshop was testimony enough, but the feedback I received both verbally and in emails was so gratifying that I want to be sure you know how much your soft voice and calm mood created a sense of safety for everyone.

I want you to especially know how important "Breathing Life into your Chapters," was for me and everyone else. Gathering sensory details around a subject worked wonders for me in the timed writing and will definitely be a part of my writing from now on.

Thank you, Nan, from me and from every one of the students.
